Interned at Gradescope, an educational startup based in Berkeley that focuses on making online grading efficient for instructors and providing users with insightful feedbacks on assignments and tests. Worked on multiple UI improvements and designed for upcoming features.

Accepted as a design member in Berkeley Innovation, an undergraduate human-centered design group. Helped design websites and conduct user research for off-campus clients. I worked with Professor Ken Goldberg in a team last semester on branding for CITRIS People and Robots initiative.

Worked on freelance apps for clients and designed for ideas we came up with on our own. Apps I worked on include Chill (customized movie recommendations), AboveGem (direct selling business app for connections), Daybox (time management and event scheduling), etc.

Worked closely with faculty at UC Berkeley on The Design Exchange research project. The Design Exchange is an interactive portal for the human-centered design community. I collaborated with lead designers and developers to design and build the recommendation system for theDesignExchange.org.
